THE UNEXAMPLED RAPIDITY WITH which the public appreciated the great value of this invention, induced others to imitate our boxes and labels so as to enable them to sell their inferior goods for the MOLDED COLLAR.

The genuine GEAY'S COLLAR is designated by two names only—"Novelty," for the turn-down and "Eureka," for the stand-up style; they are put up in blue boxes, and manufactured by the American Molded Collar Company, of DR, HENRY MOORE'S SCHOOL patented collar molded to fit the neck, and with the space for the cravat in the turnflown style.

We can inform the Journal that we ever at any time held that the President ould suspend the writ of habeas corpu We did hold, however, that when Congress authorized the calling of troops to put down the rebellion, they invested him with the rights of a belligerent, under which he could do what was necessary to ecessity of war, and not inconsistent with the true theory of the Government to great abuse, and needs the most vigilant restraints. The man who commits nomicide is prima facie a nurderer; but if he can show that the act was a necessity, he is excused. Any military commander is in the same condition. Concede an inch and they take an

Because we conceded what might be real necessities within military lines in the presence of enemies, the Journal & Co. claim supreme power for sibility to the civil power, They have woven exceptional acts into a system, and made that system the supreme law, instead of the Constitution. The President has no power to suspend the writ of habeas corpus; but he can take prisoners and hold them as a belligerent right, or kill armed enemies, and it is by due process of law as much as the arrest of a criminal by a civil officer, or the killing of the criminal, if it be necessary, is by due process of law. As soon as we ncede this, however, what claim is set up? Why, that the military is supreme all over the country. Military commissions to try citizens, fine, imprison and hang them, are conceded powers, the military being the judges of their own powers in such eases, and not responsible to civil courts. Well, it did not seem possible that men could really set up such absurd preensions in a free country. If such are to e the consequences, we beg leave to take back all concessions of belligerent rights. A military order in the lines of an army whilst the danger exists. In conceding this, we don't admit that a military order can set aside State or national laws and Constitutions; and that an order to that

The editor of the Journal is still pelling Maximilian, &c. He is an inveterate ninny. His party have more sense than to undertake a war with Napoleon on such a point now, unless the war is forced by some national indignity, aside from the mere assertion of the Monroe doctrine. Abraham Lincoln didn't intend to get into a fight on that point. He kicked that plank out of his party platthe party demagogues that met at Baltihad precious little. His party will gas and bluster about the Monroe doctrine, but confine themselves to gassing and blowing. They have only one object, and that is to hold political power. If they can't keep up a large standing army without the pretext of war with France, they will make war, for military power is a necessity to them. But it is easy to

of a war with Mexico. The stealings in New York city are lendid. The common method for a man without capital to open a large bankinghouse was with a crowbar. Now they get a clerkship, and instead of doing bankers singly, they put them through by the gross. Very lately two Philadelphia detectives brought home a rogue who had lone some banks to the tune of one or two hundred thousand. A banker's clerk, named Jenkins, puts his employers through to the amount of a quarter of a ful evidence on such terms, million or more. He is a liberal fellow gives a "pretty waiter girl" from three to five thousand a year, and hands over the greenbacks in chunks liberally. Then omes Ketchum, the great banker, and he oes catch 'em. Thousands won't do-he strikes between two and three million, and disappears so they can't catch him. His frauds tumble over banks right and left, Really, business is brisk in New York sure enough.

The Journal thinks we are incontent, because we got off what we called the Union train. Now, we generally treat parties with courtesy, until they claim a name as a merit, whilst they are not entitled to it. We have sometimes been even nore courteous. We have called them loyal people, and even what they wanted the world to think them-the saints-the infallible people. We really hold them to be disunionists and Jacobins, and history will assign them such appellations. We left no Union party. We left that train to avoid the end it was driving to. and at which the Journal and its present party have arrived. The editor has freently expressed great abhorrence of what he is now, and it is not improbable that he will do so again.

It attracted thousands upon Official Vote of Ninety-one Counthousands who hurried to see him perform the feat, not of walking over: for, if they had been certain of his success, they would as soon have turned out to see him walk from Main street, Louisville, to Chestnut, stopping at Walker's, on Third street, to eat an omelette and take a glass of wine. No, they turned out to see the funambulist tumble neck and crop into the torrent, and be sent, by water, to the everlasting bonfire as the completest specimen of an unmitigated fool ever known. For some eason—perhaps because Satan was too disgusted with his folly to desire his presence below-he was wonderfully upheld, and the crowd went away disappointed. Blondin, mortified at his failure to fall, or perhaps anxious to show that a greater fool than himself existed, soon advertised that he would make a second trip, carrythe safety of his army, and what was a ing fool No. 2, who is of the order of fool positive, if he could find him, upon his shoulders. Perhaps he was disgusted at having failed in the great thing the crowd came to see, and that was to fall. the military, and deny all respons He left behind, however, a noble example for fools to emulate, and since then funambulists have got as common as perambulists, and far more so than somnambu-

But the other day there was an account of "Blondin outdone," describing how ome female, dressed in Bloomer, periled her limbs, but not her brains, by ropewalking. Indeed, we only account for her not falling upon simple philosophical principles. Her head was so empty and light it floated in the air like a balloon, and kept legs and body from falling. The rope was useless, and she could have made her way over on a double and twisted strand of nothing as well as upon hemp or sea-grass. So could Blondin; so could a Mr. Henry Leslie, who has lately been doing Blondin's trans-Niagara exploit.

One thing which disgusts us is the error into which these performers all seem to fall. After performing their utterly useless and perilous feats, they hop up on one foot at the end of the rope, kick out the other nearly at right angles, spread and in the presence of an enemy, we have out their arms, and simper through rouge held legitimate; but binding only while and chalk, which is meant for a bow the necessity lasts-it is legitimate only to the audience. The dispatches inform us that Werz," the man who is charged with such infamous cruelty to our men at Anribbling about the Monroe doctrine, ex- dersonville, is to turn State's evidence against Davis, for which he is to be released.

The character of this Werz has been ventilated; his cruelties exposed and condemned. Unless he lies with a forty million horse-power, his life is not worth a pinch of gunpowder in the conflagration of everlasting tophet. No one knows it better than he. It is his interest to throw form, and therein showed more sense than the responsibility for what he dld from his own shoulders; it is to his interest to e, which is not saying much, for they pander to the passions of those who will set in judgment on him. Indeed, from the dispatches, he is pardoned on the condition that he will convict Davis.

If this man is guilty of the crime with which he is charged, and which he must in his sworn evidence confess, no one would think of believing him upon oath. A civil court and jury would regard him with scorn and abhorrence, and while make other pretexts, without the hazard they might technically be required to hear him, they would not heed him.

If, as the telegraph informs us, Werz is released for the purpose named, it is shameful and will defeat its object unless Davis is tried by a military commission organized to convict." In that case the ourt would appear more respectable without conniving at crime by pardoning Werz, and could carry out its object quite as well on any or no evidence. We hope the whole thing is false; that the Government has no intention of hunting up such extraordinary and disgrace-

An average of sixty-seven persons out of every million commit suicide in England each year. Hanging is much the most popular method, twenty-eight using the cord, to thirteen the dagger, twelve having a preference for drowning and six for poison. The remainder use 'miscellaneous modes," such as pistol shots, charcoal fumes and starvation.
